

CLEAR CELL SARCOMA FOUNDATION™

Our mission is to make clear cell sarcoma survivable through education and scientific research while ensuring all patients and caregivers impacted have a voice and a platform to enact change and strive towards the cure

The Clear Cell Sarcoma Foundation (CCSF) is a grass roots organization where helping those with Clear Cell Sarcoma (CCS) is our number one priority. We believe every patient has a story, a life, a family, and a home with us. We strive to support patients, research and clinicians while keeping our mission at the forefront of our work. It is important that ALL CCS patients have access to the discoveries and connections we make to find a treatment for a better outcome.

Each new day our goal is to bring hope to each CCS warrior and their family.....

By continuing to gather patient medical records through a patient registry platform where we can extract accurate data for better research

By encouraging CCS surgical tissue donation through pattern.org for open access research and for repurposed drug testing

By holding an international symposium each year where patients and their families along with clinicians can come together to discuss the current state of clear cell sarcoma and where do we go from here

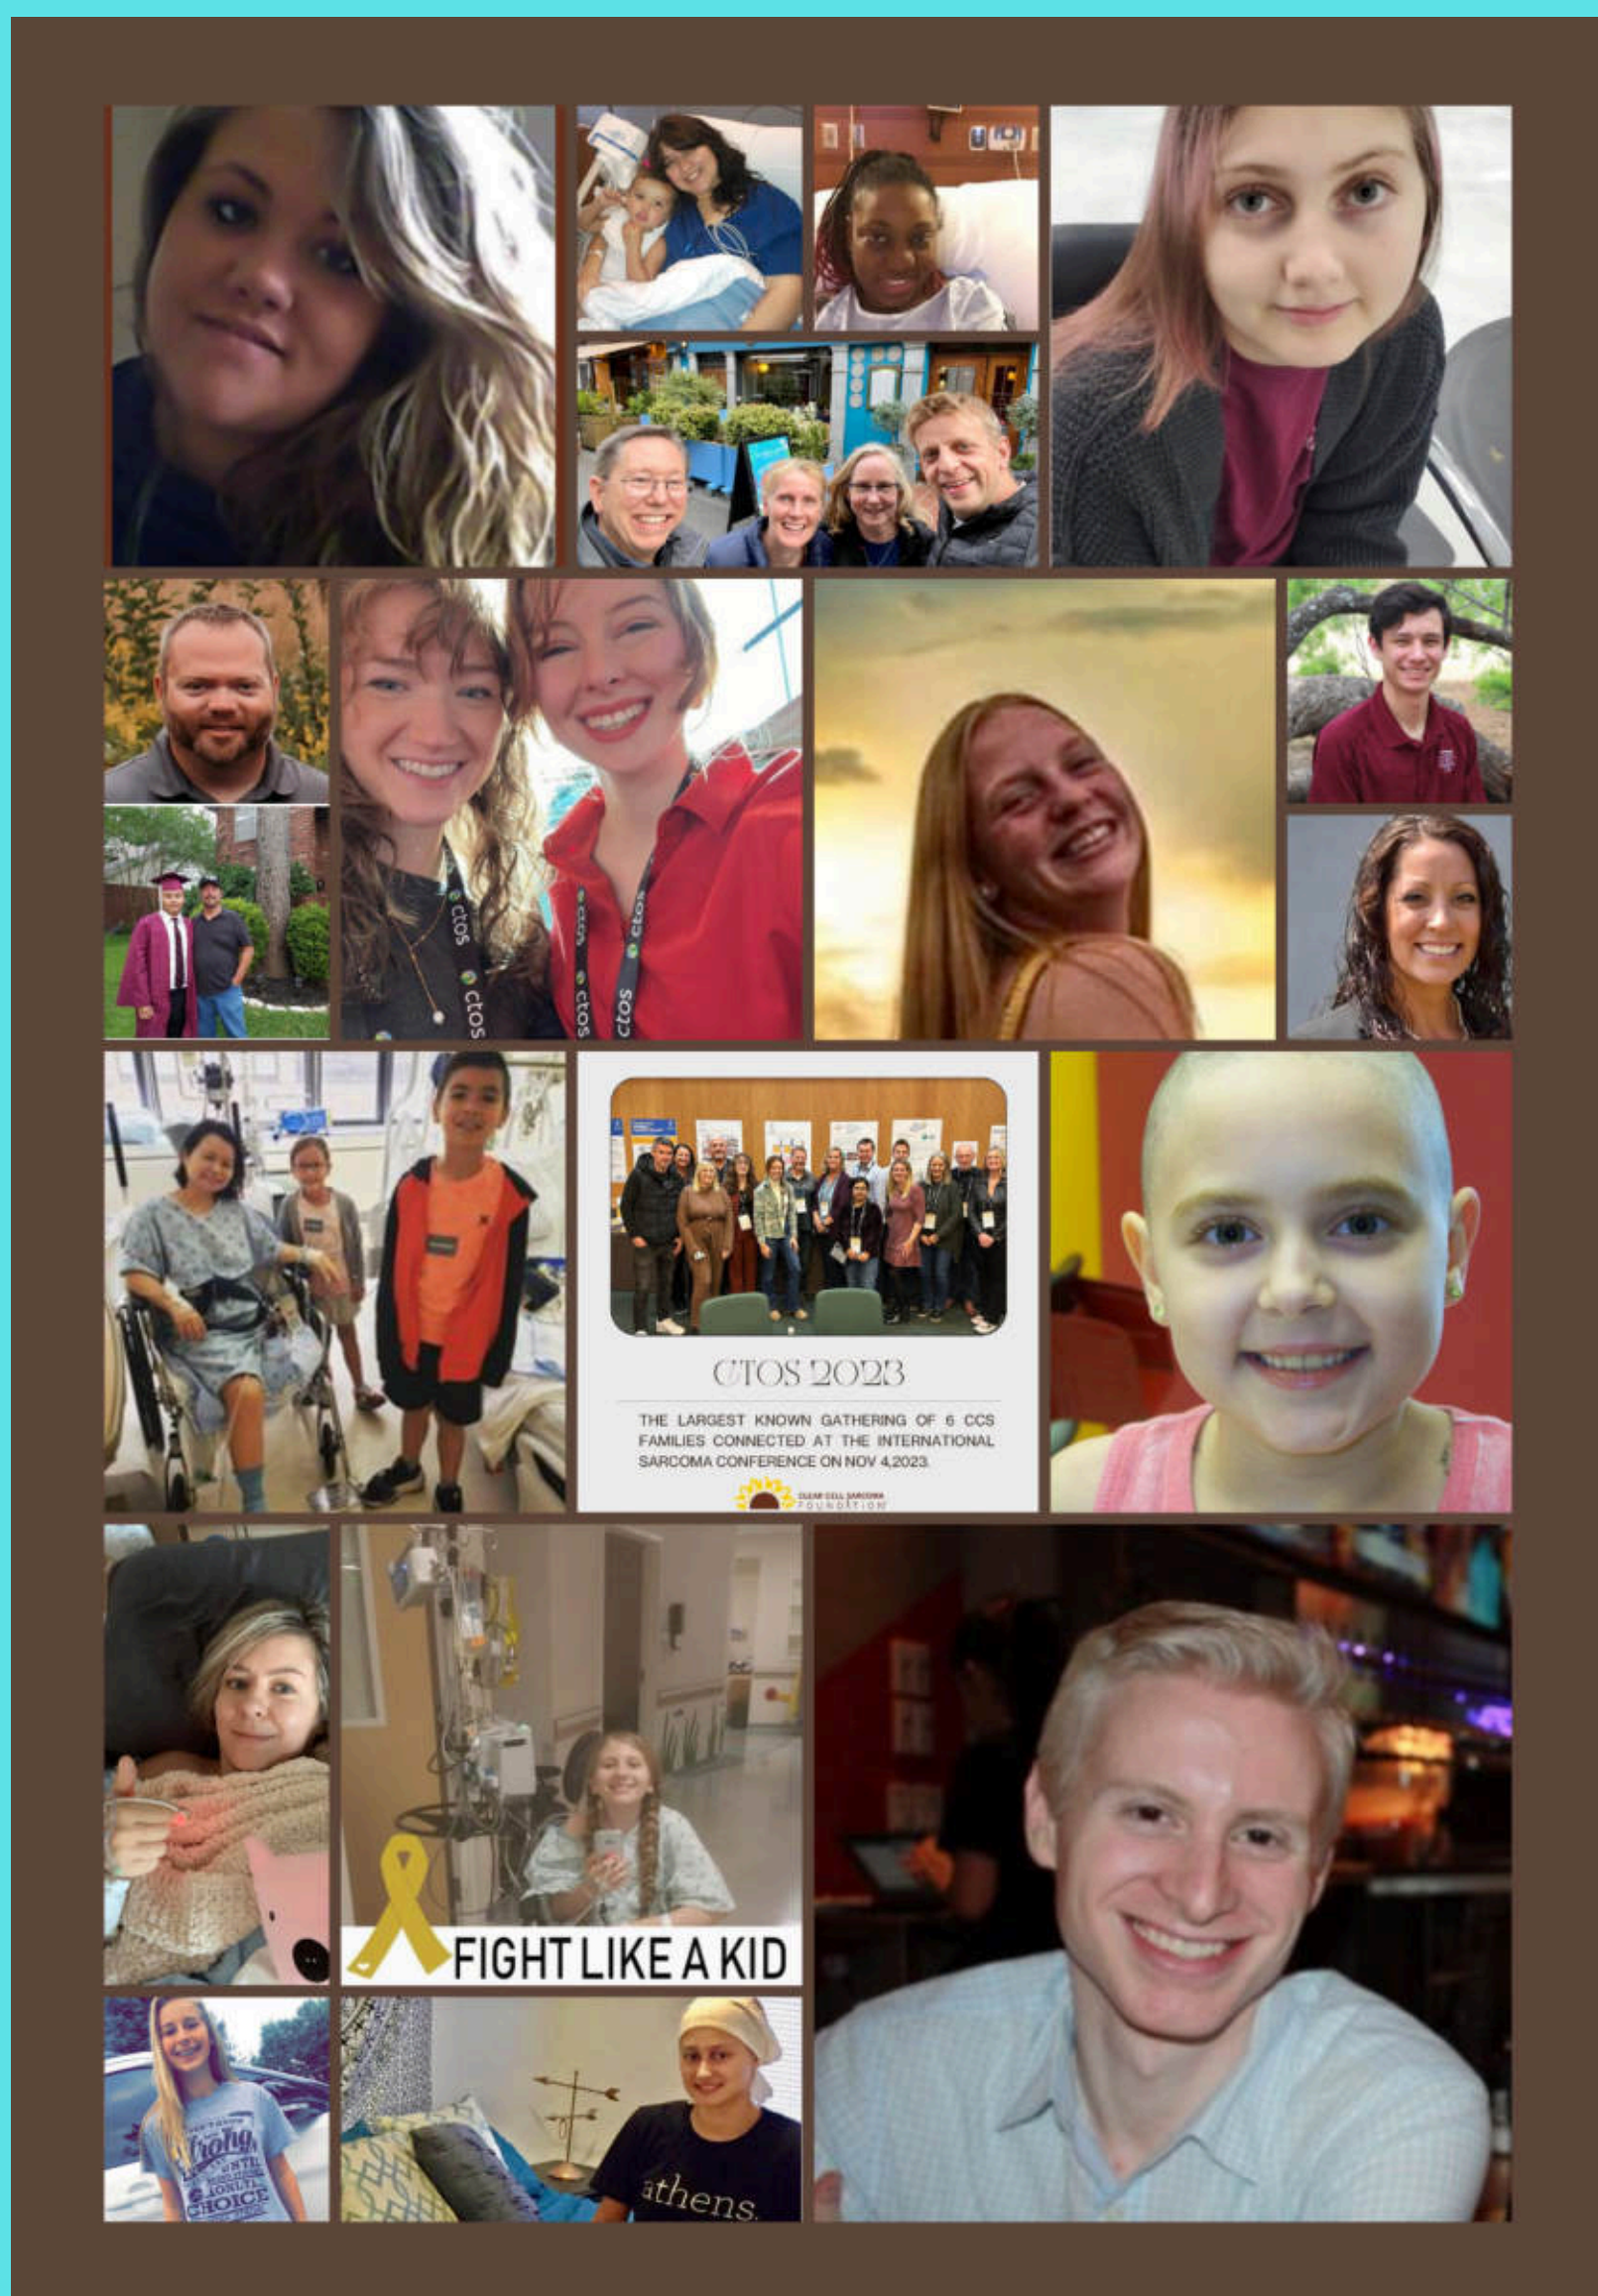

By actively working to get our Phase II trial operational and then supplementing costs so every ccs patient can participate!

By continually connecting with clinicians, regulatory agencies, researchers and other foundations through conferences, joining task forces and one on one meetings

By advocating for better patient outcomes through various outlets including the NCCN Physicians Guidelines (NCCN = National Comprehensive Cancer Network)

By educating others on what is known and latest discoveries with ccs through various social media platforms and you-tube

By compassionately listening, sharing experiences and connecting ccs patients and their families as they navigate their journey
